U. S. Enters Coal Wage Fight

OPERATORS TO TALK
DISPUTE OVER WITH
LABOR DEPARTMENT

NEGOTIATIONS WITH
JOHN L. LEWIS SAID
FRUITLESS TO DATE

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(P)—The government moved into the soft coal dispute today in an effort to head off a nationwide shutdown in the mines Sunday night.

Assistant Secretary of Labor John W. Gibson arranged to talk things over with mine operators after they had spent another day in fruitless negotiations with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers.

Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, said the Producers' Negotiating Committee would confer with Gibson at 4 p. m. (EST).

Gibson was not scheduled to attend. The contract negotiations, however, will resume tomorrow.

Gibson told reporters the government is not "mapping out any tentative contract to be submitted to the operators and the union."

However, a labor department official said that it could be anticipated that "government activities in the coal dispute would be intensified."

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president, has given notice to the operators there will be no soft coal mined next week if a new contract is not agreed upon by midnight Sunday.

While the U. S. Conciliation Service has kept Commissioner Douglas Byrd outside the conferences between Lewis and the operators for the past 17 days, the other side has moved to invite him in.

Labor department officials indicated privately they are virtually

Funds For Hundred Thousand Housing Units Get Approval

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(P)—The government signed a bill authorizing $250,000,000 in temporary housing today as the administration pressed its fight for a $600,000 subsidy program.

Senator Mead (D-N.Y.), who with Senator Wyatt (D-N.Y.), who with

Administrator Wilson

Wyatt witnessed the president's signature, predicted speedy congressional approval of legislation contemplating 2,700,000 new homes by the end of 1947.

Government Units Provided

The measure signed today provides for an additional 100,000 temporary housing units for veterans and their families. This makes a total of 200,000 units now approved. Barracks, other wartime structures will be used.

The bigger program, for permanent homes, was encountering rough going in the Senate Banking Committee. Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small said the $600,000,000 subsidy "was a reasonable request" and would be used only as "a last resort" in spurring the production of building materials.

Subsidy Plan Cut.

The subsidy plan was voted out of the administration's vast home-building program by the House.

The Senate Banking Committee now is being asked to restore it.

Small testified the money might be used in many ways to stimulate the production of materials that go into house building. He cited "premium payments" to a plant for overtime operations as one.

NEGOTIATORS REPORT REASONABLE ADVANCE IN BETHLEHEM TALKS

MEETINGS OF LOCAL
UNION, STEEL PLANT
CONTINUE THURSDAY

"Reasonable progress" was reported in the negotiations between Bethlehem Supply Company labor and management at their initial meeting with U. S. Conciliator J. C. Morrow Wednesday afternoon by E. L. Barnes, chairman of the negotiating committee of Navarro Lodge No. 1217, International Association of Machinists.

The meetings were slated to be resumed Thursday afternoon at the office of the Bethlehem Supply company.

A walkout involving about 800 employees at the local plant was made January 22, and picket lines have been put up since that time. The plant has been shutdown since the strike.

Began in January.

Disputes over a contract between management and labor was ascribed as the reason for the walkout in January as a previous contract had expired almost a year before that date.

The statement issued Wednesday night by Barnes following the first conference of the negotiating parties follows:

"Wednesday, March 27, 1946. Reasonable progress has been made with respect to various rules of an agreement. Wages have not been discussed. Negotiations will continue at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, March 28, at the company offices."

Committee Listed.

L. G. Fenn, Dallas, is the representative of the International Association of Machinists. The local negotiating committee is composed of Barnes, E. W. Humphries, J. J. Robinson and H. D. Pickens. Management is represented by W. M. Sanders of Tulsa, and Eliot Johnson and S. G. Gains, both of Corsicana.

Victory Imminent In Navarro-Red Cross Campaign

Victory in the 1946 Red Cross campaign appeared to be just around the corner today, according to figures released by W. B. (Wallie) Lewis, chairman for the sixth successive year.

Total amount of contributions rests at $15,881.08, a little less than $700 short of the $16,500 goal.

Levy was confident that the remaining amount would be secured in a short time and funds could be written to the drive.

Additional list of donors was released by the chairman as follows:

Kernes, $100.68; Blooming Grove, $405; Employees and Children of State Home, $50; T. and N. O. R. R. Co., Freight Office Employees, $24; Fogarty's Drug Store Employees, 100 per cent; $6; W. M. Forester Chevrolet Employees, $25; F. C. Stewart Motor Co. Employees, $10; Big Shot Store Employees, $10; City Hall $7.50; W. W. Woolworth Co. Employees, $17.45.

OPA Sues Sewing Machine Company For $1,125,000

KANSAS CITY, March 28.—(P)—

The Office of Price Administrator filed suit in federal court today asking damages of $1,125,000 from the Singer Sewing Machine Company for alleged violations of maximum price regulations.

The complaint, filed by Dick Bennett, OPA district enforcement attorney, charged the company had violated price ceiling regulations and had forced purchasers of sewing machines to buy other commodities, contrary to restrictions against tie-in sales. The petition said violations complained of had occurred throughout the United States.

Specifically, the complaint charged the company sold used sewing machines at new machine ceiling prices.

The OPA said a survey of regional outlets showed actual overcharges of $375,000 in sale of used sewing machines between July 1, 1945, and Feb. 25, 1946.

At New York, an executive of the company said no statement would be issued immediately and further comment was withheld.

"FRIGHTFUL DANGER OF KILLING OPA IS SEEN BY DEMOCRAT"

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(P)—

A congressional friend of President Truman's economic program said today the future of price controls is in "terrific danger."

After six weeks of slam-bang public hearings before the house banking committee on legislation to prolong OPA's life for a year beyond June 30, Rep. Monrone (D-Oklahoma), a member of the committee, told newsmen:

"There is real danger—terrific danger—that the OPA law will be amended to death."

However, the administration's economic high command arranged another committee hearing to reply to the vigorous and sometimes bitter attacks leveled at OPA by the National Association of Manufacturers and various segments of industry and agriculture.

Chester Bowles, economic stabilizer, and Paul Porter, who succeeded Bowles as OPA administrator, are expected to testify again before the committee closes its public hearing tomorrow.

RED SPY IN U.S. SEEKS CONSUL'S AID WHILE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT MEMBER JAILED

PORTLAND, Ore., March 28.—(P)—A Soviet naval officer accused of espionage turned to legal advice here today as this country stirred under reports of spy activity.

Lt. Nicolai G. Redin, 29, arrested by the FBI Tuesday night on a warrant charging that he induced an unnamed person to give him data on the destroyer tender U.S.S. Yellowstone, had the aid of Russia's top west coast representative as he prepared for a decision on whether to accept or fight removal to Seattle for trial.

Soviet Consul Present

Redin spent his second night in jail under $25,000 bail but Soviet consul-General Michael S. Vavilov, who flew here from San Francisco, said he would post the bail today unless Redin, member of the Soviet purchasing commission at Seattle, were released on his own recognizance.

A person close to the office of U. S. District Attorney Henry Hess said he believed Redin would be released to Vavilov's custody.

MONTREAL, March 28.—(P)—Fred Rose, a Communist and a member of Parliament, was committed for trial today on charges of imparting official secrets to Soviet Russia, and was ordered to prison. His $10,000 bail was cancelled.

The Parliament member was ordered to prison and "to be kept there until delivered according to law."

Rose's lawyer, Joseph Cohen, offered no defense at today's appearance before Judge Rene Theberge, declaring "we reserve our defense for the trial."

At a preliminary hearing this week, Judge Theberge had found the prima facie case had been made against Rose and, according to Canadian law, had ordered him to appear today for a voluntary statement before committing him to trial.

An amended indictment filed against Rose charged him with conspiring with 21 persons, among them several Russians; Dr. Aken Nunan May, a physicist arrested in London recently, and Dr. Raymond Boyer, McGill University professor.

USSR Represented At Sessions Where Iran Not Discussed

NEW YORK, March 28.—(P)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko declared this afternoon he "definitely would" attend the executive session of the Security Council in downtown Manhattan.

NEW YORK, March 28.—(P)—Soviet Russia made it clear today that she would continue to take part in activities of the United Nations despite the dramatic withdrawal of Ambassador Andrei Gromyko yesterday from discussions of the Iranian question.

First concrete evidence of this came this morning when Prof. Boris Stein, representing Russia, attended a meeting of the committee of experts which is working on rules of procedure for the Security Council.

At the same time a Soviet spokesman said that Russia would be represented at this afternoon's closed session of the council.

Earlier a Soviet spokesman had indicated that Gromyko would attend the session—scheduled for 4 p. m. (EST)—with the understanding that the council would not go into the merits of the Iranian dispute but would confine its discussion to the problems of procedure on the question.

No Troops Leaving.

No reports of Russian troops actually leaving Iran have been received by the army, the officer said.

He expressed anxiety about the Iranian garrison at Sardasht, saying communications with that western outpost had been interrupted since Kurdish tribesmen attacked the post east of the capital, although only about 15 Russians remained at Kard. A railway station detail remained at Garmsar, he said.

Official Tehran government sources remained silent regarding the Russian delegation's action at the United Nations Security Council meeting in New York.

Minister Ahmad Qavam was "too busy" to see reporters and Prince Fazl, the propaganda minister, said there was "no change in Iran's status in the Russo-Iranian case."

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, former German foreign minister, went to the stand in his own defense today shortly after his personal secretary had told the international military tribunal of a secret Russian-German pact in August, 1939, for the division of Eastern Europe.

The secretary said the pact divided Eastern European territories, including Poland, was brought from Moscow by Ribbentrop before he was a young army officer on the road to his command, and he had removed a secret clause which isolated the post from divisional headquarters at Sanandaj.

SOVIET, ARGENTINA URGED TO GIVE FOOD FOR FEEDING WORLD.

By ALEX SINGLETON.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 28.—(P)—British Minister of State Philip Noe-Baker today called upon Soviet Russia and the Argentine, "with one of the greatest and most resolute" of food to contribute to UNRRA's work of preventing mass starvation.

He told delegates from UNRRA's 48 member nations here that Britain "rejoiced" at the report Russia was planning to sell France 500,000 tons of grain. Then he suggested that the Soviet use its food no nation on the council could prevent any other nation from being heard.

2. In challenging Russia's threat to walk out, however, the council majority at least temporarily widened the split among the big powers.

3. The brightest spot in the situation as it shaped up was the statement of a Soviet spokesman that Russia would be represented at today's closed council meeting.

Public Session
It seemed certain the council would have another public session on Friday at which time, with Gromyko expected to be absent, members would have a chance to question Hussein Ala on his statement yesterday that Iran wanted immediate action on its complaints against Russia.

The best opinion of the moment is that much will depend on the situation in Iran. If the Russians are still showing good faith in getting their troops out—which is the main issue—the reason for council action may more or less collapse.

If not, about the most extreme action the council could take would be to adopt a resolution recommending that Russian troops should be withdrawn at once—and leave the rest to public opinion and moral pressure.

No Provisions
That line of development was depending on whether the council decided that in Russia's absence it could still function. The United Nations Charter simply makes no provision for a situation which one of the 11 members refuses to attend.

On efforts to settle a dispute peacefully, a party to the dispute must refrain from voting under the charter. In this case it would appear, therefore, that the council could go along for the time without Russia—unless someone should prove that unless all the big-five nations were present it could not function at all.

UNRRA

Roosevelt already had gone beyond the point of speculation.

If accepted, it would bring back into a working partnership—this time at an international level—the team of Fiorello H. LaGuardia and Mrs. Roosevelt which directed the United States program of civilian defense during the first part of the war.

LaGuardia Nominated
LaGuardia, former mayor of New York, has been nominated director general of UNRRA to succeed Herbert Lehman.

Before him was a broad program of recommendations to member governments for rigorous food controls—including rationing "where necessary"—together with a call for all-out production, aid to farmers and stringent conservation steps.

The new director will be under orders to contact all of UNRRA's members speedily; find out how much further they can go in their contributions toward forestalling famine, and then call UNRRA's delegates back into session.

Despite the strong recommendations on food controls, there existed among the delegates a sentiment that the United States—UNRRA's chief supplier—would return to rationing. A United States spokesman observed that there was nothing mandatory about the recommendation.

The committee, following a closed session yesterday, reported that it would send an investigator to Canada to confer with officials on the alleged Soviet spy ring in that country and would start hearings within the next two weeks on reported attempts to steal U. S. atomic bomb secrets.

No Link Revealed
There was no immediate claim, however, of a link between Redin and other reported activists.

Lt. Redin was expected to confer with an attorney and with Vavilov today. Preliminary hearings before U. S. Commissioner Robert A. Leedy was deferred until today when the consul-general said he wanted an attorney for his fellow-countryman.

MINISTER OF THE CHURCH OF CHRIST

On reading a railroad ticket which I purchased the other day, I noticed these words printed in bold letters: "Not Good if Detached."

The ticket was made of the same material as the stub, and yet it wasn't any good unless attached to the stub. Have you ever thought about the many things that are of no value apart from their relation to something else? An anchor is of little use unless attached to a ship. Door steps are no good unless attached to a house.

Many people are good morally, visit the sick, help the poor, and refuse to lie and steal. They think their own righteousness is enough to take them to heaven. But good works are "not good if detached." They are of no value unless coupled with obedience to the gospel. If an individual has not become a Christian, his good works go for naught. He is like a detached railroad ticket, an inspired apostle writes, "Unto God be glory in the church and in Christ Jesus." Out of Christ and his church—detached—a person's goodness is worthless to the Lord.

CHAMBER COMMERCE SEEKING FUNDS TO BRING FACTORY HERE

HAT MANUFACTURING CONCERN OFFERS TO LO- CATE PLANT IN CORSICANA

Initial pledges in a campaign to bring a hat manufacturing plant to Corsicana were received at a meeting of interested citizens this morning in Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

A sum of $10,000 is sought for Corsicana's investment in the project which has developed in recent days. This will provide a suitable location, of from 5 to 10 acres, and will erect a brick building to house the plant.

John Corley, president, explained that a ceramic plant project recently considered for Corsicana "apparently has fallen by the wayside" and asked those who had pledged to that deal to release their subscription to the hat manufacturing plant.

Corley explained that the Texas Miller Products Inc., had been thoroughly investigated by the Chamber of Commerce, and both that organization and its industrial committee had recommended and endorsed the project.

Louis Wolens, who interested the Miller company in considering Corsicana as the location of its southwestern plant, said: "They are considered peers in the hat manufacturing business and they enjoy an excellent reputation. Mainly, they manufacture straw and medium-priced felt hats. Their total volume last year was around six million dollars."

The Miller Co. operates about eight hat manufacturing plants in the East.

Wolens Pledge $11,000

As an indication of faith in the project, K. Wolens Dept. Store, morning signed up for 10 per cent of the total cost. Their pledge of $11,000 gave the campaign a good start.

If the Miller plant is located in Corsicana, it will offer employment to about 300 local citizens, 50 per cent men. The wage scale will range from 65 cents to $1.75 an hour. The company plans to add additional lines of wearing apparel in the future.

Wolens expressed the opinion that the original physical structure would cost a great deal more than $110,000, and that the company would spare no expense in this investment. Corsicana would not be responsible for any amount over the pledged sum of $110,000, and any additional expenditure would come from the Miller company.

Other Pledges

Other pledges received this morning were as follows: Loretta Gullion, $100; W. E. McKinney, $1,000; John R. Corley, $1,000; Margie Bottling Co., $500; John H. Bryant, $200; Marks Bros., $500; Daily Sun, $500; D&W Office Machine Co., $100; J. A. Fullerton, $100; Dr. Pepper Co., $1,000; Sam Daicher, Jewelry Co., $1,000; Den. Dr. Donoho, $100; C. A. HERSHEY DECLARES EXTENSION OF DRAFT LAW IS NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, March 28—(AP)—

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey told congress today the draft law must be extended if the Army is to get the 600,000 men needed in the next 12 months.

Major General Hershey estimated that the Army requires about 50,000 men monthly but can obtain only one-fifth of that number through enlistments if the Selective Service law is permitted to lapse on May 15.

He was the first witness at the Senate Military Affairs Committee began two weeks of public hearings, decided upon after the committee deadlocked 8-8 on the administration's request for a year's extension of the draft.

As Hershey began reading a prepared statement calling attention to mobilization of 14,000,000 men during the war and peacetime "commitments at home and abroad" Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) interrupted.

"Let's forget the commitments abroad and get right down to the question involved," Thomas said curtly.

Thomas, who has opposed extension of the draft, said he believed voluntary enlistments would provide all the men the armed forces need under present plans.

"We've broken all records for voluntary enlistments," Thomas said.

Hershey conceded this was true but asserted the reason was that thousands of young men volunteered only because they thus avoided being drafted. That will stop, Hershey said, if the Selective Service Act is allowed to die.

AS WORLD SWINGS TO LEFT BIBLE SHOWS WAY TO CENTER*

Nations Repeating the Blunder of Old Israel

—Theocracy Precedes Democracy—King Business Slumps Today—Two Forms of Dictatorship Threaten the People of Earth

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

In the world's present turmoil we see repeated the experience of old Israel under the Judges. They enjoyed a God-guided democracy, under the lead of great men and one woman. But they were restive under this old-fashioned primitive regime. They wanted to follow the fashions of neighbor nations. Again and again they clung to the practices of their heathenism.

They wanted to be like other peoples. So they demanded a king to rule them; nay old Samuel was too straitlaced for these "progressive" Hebrews.

Our modern world is rapidly swinging to the left in government. Consider what a bunch of kings have been deprived of their thrones in our time. All of continental Europe, and much of Asia, under the threat of communism.

"The dictatorship of the proletariat" is as dangerous as the old absolute monarchies.

Opposing this leftward movement in international politics is what forms of Fascism survive the war. They are still strong enough to threaten the contending mass movement.

Give Us This King

Both are types of the king-rule; both that the Israelites clamored; and both are wrong. The one power that can thwart them is Christian Democracy—an active discipleship to Jesus Christ, whose Kingdom spells brotherhood and peace.

In their fashion-fed folly, the Hebrews did not perceive the advantage they held over all other nations. They were a theocracy, God-led people. Their Democracy was on a true basis. For let it be said again and again that we cannot have real Democracy without Theocracy. Fatherhood precedes brotherhood. Before an individual or state can obey the tremendous inhibitions and inspirations of Democracy it must accept the sway of the King of kings.

That is why the enthronement of Christ in all phases of our present life is the one sure "way out" for the world. Not Communism nor Fascism, but the realization of the Kingdom of Heaven on earth is humanity's hope. With Christ as accepted King of our lives all the beautiful promises of the Kingdom may be fulfilled, right here and now. The man or woman who is definitely serving the Kingdom has a post not less in power and honor than that of a delegate to the United Nations Organization.

Behind Our Choices

Those ambitious Israelites who clamored for a king did not truly realize that they were not only rejecting their noble and successful leader, Prophet Samuel, but also that they were rejecting the whole plan of Providence for them as a nation.

In examining the three choices now confronting nations—Communism, Fascism and Christian Democracy—we should apply the Scriptural test of the will of God.

A wrong choice means rejection of Him, Jehovah plainly warned Israel that they were not rejecting Samuel, but rejecting Him. It was no mere matter of king fashion versus Theocratic—Democratic fashion; it was a plain repudiation of the provinces and philosophy of God in the nation's history. So we need to look into the larger, older, higher meaning of our choices in this day of decision.

Folly of Fashion-Following

As we see one ridiculous fashion follow another, especially in women's clothes, we are taught how powerful is the desire for conformity. One of the basic shaping influences of life. It standardizes clothes and conduct, houses and habits. It is a rock-bottom excuse for most sinning.

In the case of Israel, this was the avowed reason for their desire for a king. They wanted to be in the prevailing fashion. Neighbor nations had kings; why should they not be in the vogue? Evidently, Mrs. Grundy was already queen of Israel!

So the Lord—who often helps us with the second best, when we refuse His best—told Samuel when he anointed as King. He was a handsome big fellow, head and shoulders above his fellows in height; a modest young man, content with a countryman's simple tasks.

Saul, son of Kish, was in search of his father's strayed asses when he met Samuel, who bestowed singular honors upon him, and anointed him as king. When a national convention was called to choose a king, the people ratified Samuel's selection—but could not find Saul, who was modestly hiding among the baggage. When he was brought forth, the air was rent with cries of "Long live the king!"

Alas, shy and self-deprecating Saul soon took on the royal ways of which the prophet had warned the people. He became an arrogant tyrant, even preempting Samuel's office as priest. His story is an absorbing study in progressive character—deterioration. I have seen the walls of Belas, where his enemies finally hung his severed head in shame of defeat.

TIME TO WAKE UP

Walter Lippman the other day wrote in his New York Herald-Tribune syndicated column something which should have shocked the American public more than it seems to have done. It was a simple thing, measured by words, but immense in its potentiality. He said in effect that we may fail to make peace—that we have reached a situation where it is easier to fail than to succeed, a dividing line where the chances of war are greater than the chances of peace. If this is the case, it is certainly time for our nation to wake up, to realize how and where we stand, and to start doing something about it more effective than defensive measures of which the nation is aware so far.

The measures which will count most, doubtless, are those which make for mutual understanding. Nations like individuals, who really understand each other, are usually friendly. It is the fear which springs from ignorance which breeds wars.

T. R.'S PARK

The next national park will commemorate one of the most colorful of our presidents, Theodore Roosevelt. It will also call attention to a beauty spot not nearly so well known as it should be. This is the North Dakota Bad Lands, 3,500 acres of which have been approved as a national park by the House of Representatives Public Lands Committee.

While it is over a quarter of a century since the strenuous Teddy died, his delight in the outdoors and in physical exertion are well remembered. Yet strangely enough in his early manhood he was sickly, so that from 1883 to 1886 he spent part of each year ranching in the area to be included in the new park. This contact with the West not only restored his health, but gave him a knowledge of the Western point of view and sympathy with it which was one of his greatest assets as a public man. It was his Western supporters who forced his nomination for vice-president in 1900, three by bringing him into the White House a year later, on the death of President McKinley.

Of the Bad Lands of the Little Missouri, a stretch of broken country between the prairies of North Dakota and of Montana, Roosevelt wrote, "It has a desolate grim beauty that has a curious fascination for me." Doubtless it will similarly affect many Americans who will soon be seeing the new park for the first time.

THE ARABS SPEAK

Arabia's intention to oppose uncompromisingly and belligerently Jewish expansion in Palestine was made clear in Cairo at hearings before the Anglo-American Commission of Inquiry on Palestine. Religious, political, educational and youth leaders of Moslem descent claimed Zionism was "a fanatical combination of race, religion and state, aimed at forming a new country with a new language and its own military," the whole resembling Hitlerite techniques and ideologies.

One speaker, a descendant of the first Caliph of Islam, representing 400,000,000 Moslems, announced his people's decision to oppose at any price a growing Jewish state in the Arab land. A former Egyptian supreme court judge said that because the Jews were persecuted in Europe was no rea-

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

SALONIKA, March 28—(AP)—The office chair of Dr. Herman Wells in the American Consulate Building here is peculiarly well situated in a symbolic sort of way.

From his desk the portly academician can look across mast-filled Saloniaka harbor to Mt. Olympus' snow-covered immortal home. The white peak, by some trick of distance or water reflection, appears to float in luminous splendor, as it detached from the earth.

For centuries men have spoken of "olympian detachment" and that is a quality which Dr. Wells and the men under him are trying to observe in one of the most interesting experiments of world political history.

To Watch Greek Election
The chubby Hoosier educator—at 43 he has been president of the Indiana University for 10 years and is slowly outgrowing his title of "Boy Wonder" in higher learning circles—is a member of the American mission to observe the Greek election.

He is one of five American diplomats and along with British and French colleagues of equal rank is supervising the taking of election data in a 400-mile zone in northern Greece stretching from Albania to the Turkish border.

Russia also was invited to send observers, but said "no thank you" and the Greek Communists are officially boycotting the whole election.

Non-Partisan Observers
The Allied observers will take no part in the election itself, nor do they stump for any party or candidate and Dr. Wells said that it was only because of its completely non-partisan nature that he had accepted his post on the mission.

"We were told on the highest authority that the sole American interest was to see that there was a fair election in accordance with Greek law and that the expression of free will of the Greek people was our sole target. We were told to exercise complete objectivity."

"By our scientific sampling we hope to be able to give our government a complete picture of the political situation."

Travel by Mule

The observers travel by jeep or mule and the team had to walk 20 miles to reach one isolated snow-bound mountain community.

They talk to voters and candidates of every party, hear their complaints and counter charges, but take no action.

In this hazy situation it is somewhat difficult for the bystander to see what it all adds up to. But it is quite apparent that the mere presence of these American, French and British observers—plus the fact there are British troops here by invitation and Royal Air Force planes zooming over the countryside—constitute what the top-hatted boys in London and Washington might call "a stabilizing influence." Elsewhere in the Balkans Russia exercises the "stabilizing influence."

Dr. Wells says the Allied observers have been enthusiastically welcomed.

CITIZENS OF NAVARRO COUNTY UNANIMOUS FOR ROAD PROGRAM; ASK ELECTION TO INCREASE TAX

By PAUL MOORE
Daily Sun Staff.

Navarro county citizens Monday afternoon in mass meeting at the courthouse voted to ask the commissioners to call an election to determine whether or not an additional 16-cent levy on the $100 valuation be made to supplement existing funds for farm-to-market roads, after an unanimous vote had been made to go on the unit system.

The meeting also approved a suggestion that the legislature and other state officials be urged to support the levying of an additional one-cent gasoline tax, to be returned to the counties for farm-to-market road construction. The group rejected a previous vote to ask that the road and bridge fund and any supplemental funds be divided as now is done by the court. Despite wet roads due to the rains, most sections of the county were represented. The group voted against a motion to ask a bond issue election of sufficient size to construct an adequate system of roads.

Judge Powell Presided.

J. M. Eldred, county judge, presided at the meeting. All members of the court were present, although Drew Gillen of Blooming Grove was late because of a funeral at Blooming Grove.

Judge Powell referred to petitions bearing approximately 300 names of citizens asking that the mass meeting be called. He outlined the 522 miles allowed Navarro county for the next three years in the state-federal program and referred to a survey by the highway department in 1944 showing where the most traffic was to be found on the county roads. He said the highway department had recommended 380 roads. Navarro county for improvement based on the traffic survey in 1944. (It was stated by some at the meeting that another traffic count was under way at the present time. One asked the question about the traffic survey on roads that were impassable because of mudholes or bridges out.)

Types of Financing.

Judge Powell said part of the 310 miles had been improved, leaving about 200 miles unimproved. In the unit outlined program, he said that it was estimated it would cost approximately $10,000 per mile, and pointed out there were two types of road building financing:

1. By two-thirds of the property tax payers voting a bond issue.

2. Raising taxes for roads and building on a cash basis as we go. Judge Powell referred to the recent law passed allowing reallocation of fund levies in Texas. (This proposition was disapproved by Navarro county voters last year.)

The county judge stated the commissioners court wanted a cross-section of the judgment of the people. He said the proposed one-cent gasoline tax would provide approximately $110,000 per year should the legislature pass such a measure. Judge Powell spoke of a recent commissioners court meeting held at Marshall, called by the East Texas Chamber school bus routes and so that the people could get to doctors.

Working for People.

Jack Megrity, Precinct 1 commissioner, said that the court was working for the people and would try to put into effect the wishes of the people.

Glen Thompson, Coca-Cola company representative, opposed a bond issue.

Marshall Tatum of Drane urged voting on bonds.

W. V. Mowlam, Corsicana, engineer, suggested unit system and said that materials and equipment was scarce at the present time.

A motion by J. M. Eldred, Drane, for a bond issue, was defeated, 10 to 9, and 38 votes against the proposition.

A motion of J. F. Adams of Corsicana to ask for an election in the county to determine a 16-cent additional levy for roads for a five-year period, was passed.

A motion by J. N. Edens, seconded by W. T. Stockton of Korens, passed, requesting efforts be made to get the legislature to pass the additional one-cent gasoline levy for farm-to-market roads.

Road and Bridge Fund.

A motion by Edens of Korens was passed 43 to 14 that the present division of the road and bridge fund, 29 per cent to Precinct 1, and 23 1/3 per cent to Precincts 2, 3, and 4, be continued, but after considerable arguments and talks for and against the measure, it was rescinded on motion of J. F. Adams, 36-12. Judge Powell, Edens and others said that such a motion as proposed would be held under an executive order, and that under the law, there was only one road and bridge fund—that the division was only a gentlemen's agreement. It was stressed in various comments and addresses relative to the unit system that a county engineer under the unit system would be directly and continuously under the supervision of the commissioners court, and responsible to that body for every action. The court does not lose any of its protective or powers under the unit system, but merely turns over the actual road building and maintenance to a competent engineer.

Joe Sheppard of Korens, J. O. Sessions of Bazuette, Mr. Hammatt of Dawson, and others also spoke briefly.

Want Roads Now.

J. M. Eldred, Drane, said "We white-heads want roads now."

W. P. Thorp, Chaffield, said that the expenses of operating cars on bad roads was more expensive than interest and payments on the bonds.

E. C. Mueller, manager of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce, suggested re-allocation program.

Judge Powell said statistics showed automobile costs of operation on unimproved roads was 10 cents per mile and three cents per mile on improved highways.

High Parrish, residing between Corsicana and Emhouse, wanted to know how a traffic count could be secured on a road that can't be traveled.

E. H. Gray, Korens, member of the county school board, said school bus routes should be considered first, but said he doubted whether a bond issue will carry if submitted to the voters.

Edens Urges Roads.

J. N. Edens, Corsicana, long-time member of the local good roads committee, said all agreed that there was a need for a system of roads, and the only question of what type of financing.

He asked that the court go the limit in supplementing the funds, and stressed his idea of widening the roads and building bridges first and then paving them. He said 25 per cent maintenance was needed, too. His suggestion of the unit system was adopted.

Beldon English, Frost, said 110 miles of improved roads were needed in Precinct 4 to care for Eisenhower Day.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 28—(AP)—Rep. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) today put aside reports that he would be a Texas gubernatorial candidate and announced that he would seek re-election to congress from the 10th District.

Meanwhile, a report from Amarillo yesterday said that Johnson has definitely decided to become a candidate for the United States Senate in 1948.

The county judge stated the commissioners court wanted a cross-section of the judgment of the people. He said the proposed one-cent gasoline tax would provide approximately $110,000 per year should the legislature pass such a measure. CENSUS OF SCHOOLS BY APRIL 1 ASKED OF ENUMERATORS

J. C. Watson, county school superintendent, today requested census enumerators and patrons in common and independent school districts to see that the scholastic census of all schools be completed not later than April 1 and submitted to his office as soon as possible.

Marshall Tatum of Drane urged voting on bonds.

W. V. Mowlam, Corsicana, engineer, suggested unit system and said that materials and equipment was scarce at the present time.

Lucille Ball Goes Against Fad And Signs Contract

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 28—(P)—At a time when more and more movie stars are free-lancing, Lucille Ball says to heck with that business. She's getting tied up to a studio contract again.

"Yes, I'm going back to nice, well-cushioned rut," she told me on the set of "Lover Come Back." "I signed with MGM again." Lucille left the Culver City menage when her contract expired several months ago and did some free-lancing. I asked her why she is returning to her old haunt.

"It's because I'm not a movie star, I'm a mom," she admitted. "Besides, I don't trust myself. How should I know what's good for me? I'm only an actress. Many times I have thought that a story is great and then it turns out to be a stinker. I need to have some studio brains to watch out for me."

Wants Friendly Faces.

Also, the Butte, Mont., redhead added, she likes to be surrounded by friendly faces. "I know all the people at MGM and like them," she said. "When I go somewhere else, I have to meet so many more people. An actress meets enough people without changing jobs all the time."

Funeral services will be held from the Corley Funeral Chapel Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Oakwood cemetery. The rites will be conducted by Rev. J. D. Bradley, pastor of the Midland Baptist church.

Surviving are her husband, J. H. Hague, Midland, and a daughter, Mrs. M. C. Swarthout, Midland.

Pallbearers will be W. G. Owen, George Robinson, Charles I. Reeves, W. E. Swarthout, Gene Tyner and S. L. Brashears.

Phosphate Available.

Phosphate for application to pastures and legumes under the AAA purchase order plan can be procured at the Southland Cotton Oil Company, according to C. T. Young, county ACA secretary.

The mineral will be available at the approved prices of $25.24 for 20 per cent; $24.84 for 19 per cent and $24.24 for 18 per cent.

R. D. Owens of Korens and W. C. Oshorn as Dawson also have the phosphate on the purchase order plan.

Mexia School Head Named

AUSTIN, Tex., March 27—(P)—Board of Control Chairman Weaver Baker has announced appointment of T. E. Carter, now principal of the Austin State School, as superintendent of the new training school at Mexia.

An advanced unit of 20 boys are already at the Mexia school laying out garden tracts under the direction of F. O. Seiter, business manager from the Austin school.

Houston Author's First Novel To Be Published Monday

An addition to the growing list of Texas novelist is Charles Edward, a native of Grovesbeck, Leon County, and now in the advertising business in Houston. His novel, a "first," entitled THE WITCH is the April selection of the Literary Guild and will come off the presses of Little, Brown next Monday.

Ten years of efforts culminated in the tale of South Sea lore; ten years of research and more research for the forty-one years old author who is still in the advertising game, despite his success because he finds the writing of ads interesting—and a steady source of income.

Rourke is a sharp contrast to Ivy League writing product, he began as a sign painter in the rough and boisterous oil towns of Texas. Keeping a sharp eye on the cartoonist field, he worked in the oil towns and also found employment in theaters putting on "chautauk" acts. He still paints.

Writing time for the Texan is the after-work hours in the Rook kitchen. At present he is working on another novel.

OUR TOWN

CORSICANA

(Editor's Note—Although this poem appeared in a Corsicana paper over 50 years ago the same road conditions still exist in many parts of the county. The author is unknown.)

THE PLANTER'S RIDE

Down in the South, at break of day,

Headed for Corsicana, far away,

Two mustangs lean their gearings bare,

And patiently stood at the planter's door.

It had rained "right smart" the day before—

The mud was six inches deep, or more.

And Corsicana twenty miles away.

The children each had a word to say,

As the father don'd his coat of gray,

And tears adown his wife's cheek rolled,

From a pure fountain, uncontrolled,

A gate "Dood, bye!" from sweet Maud.

And the planter was soon off on the road,

With Corsicana fifteen miles away.

He found the changes in the road to town,

Made them right-angled triangles, up and down,

Turning first to the left—then to the right,

And though he started at morning's light,

Shadows were gatherin' that beoken'd night;

And he paused a moment in the muddy track

To see if he was going, or coming back!

But on he pushed in the evening gray,

With Corsicana ten miles away.

Under his horse's feet, the waxy pond,

Like a sullen, lava river flowed;

But a brave, stout heart that Texan wore,

He cheer'd mustangs on once more,

While fast ahead in the brush was seen

A deep, bold-shored, unbridged ravine,

To full banks swollen by the recent rain!

Undaunted he viewed the roaring fray,

With Corsicana five miles away.

Scanning the pass with a practiced eye,

By the aid of stars which lit the sky,

Our hero, piled the black-snake hot

And lashed his mustangs into a trot,

But though he whipped and lustily pawed,

And on some "strangers", vainly called,

Right there in the middle he was stalled,

Planted as firm as a mesquite root,

Every wheel if his wagon, and Horses to boot!

A wise old owl, who was sitting near,

Heard him mutter, as he unhooked the gear,

Something about the Commissioner's Court—

And that—overseer's last report.

That night he camped in a sequestered vale,

With the owl, and the wolf, and the cottontail;

But next day, as the court-house

clock struck nine,

And our merchants and professionals wheeled into line—

After pleasant dreams and a luxurious night,

The old bronzed planter loomed into sight.

"Tis true his toilet was a little mixed,

But a look firm of purpose on his face was fix'd:

The cotton sold, he remarked to a friend—

"My trade with Corsicana has come to an end;

The roads are too long, and the lanes are too narrow;

I'll tote my 'craps' to Houston on the old wheel-barrow!

Ere tribute to an ungrateful city

I'll pay

Add 'hope' the corner-stone of her great future to lay!"

MORAL

When wisdom is given to see things aright,

And Justice, her smiling approval shall bow;

On cities and nations will dawn the true light.

That prosperity begins and ends with the plow.

Corsicana Veteran Buy Surplus Jeep

Leslie K. Wareing of Corsicana, a veteran of World War II, was among the successful purchasers of used jeep Monday at the first of a series of such sales being conducted by the War Assets Administration, Dallas.

A total registration of 325 veterans was recorded by the start of the sale at 10 a. m. and order of purchasing was determined by an impartial drawing. There was a total offering of 165 used jeeps and sale prices ranged from $445 to $606. Several ex-Army nurses were in attendance, but none had the good fortune of having her name drawn before the supply of jeeps was exhausted.

Selling progressed at the rate of a jeep a minute.

WAR CRIMES

considered the matter in private 75 minutes and over the strenuous objections of the Soviet Prosecutor, Gen. R. A. Rudenko.

The witness also told the court Ribbentrop began peace overtures as early as the winter of 1943 when with Adolf Hitler's permission he had sent a Professor Becker to Switzerland for the purpose of finding a basis for peace negotiations.

On April 20, 1945, Ribbentrop also notified Hitler that he wanted to undertake peace negotiations, she said, but Hitler would "suspend negotiations only if military successes were present."

Interpreter on Stand.

The defense then summoned Paul Otto Schmidt, Hitler's official interpreter, to testify.

The woman witness barely had time to assert that a Russo-German treaty had been signed by Ribbentrop and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in Moscow when the Soviet prosecutor got on his feet and objected.

Lawyer Objects.

He declared the matter was irrelevant and that the witness was not competent to testify concerning the alleged treaty, thus posing one of the most delicate questions to be presented to the tribunal since the war crimes trial opened more than four months ago.

The tribunal immediately recessed to discuss the matter in private.

Gen. Rudenko charged that attempts of attorneys for both Von Ribbentrop and Rudolf Hess to bring the reported secret pact into the trial were "purely provocative."

Aska Trenty Copy.

Alfred Seidl, counsel for Hess, jumped up with a declaration that only two copies of the treaty were made when it was signed in Moscow in August, 1939, and that Von Ribbentrop took one to Berlin.

He said the Russians had seized most of the German foreign office archives in Berlin and added:

"I ask that the Soviet delegation be ordered to submit to the tribunal the original of that agreement."

Seidl said he was unable to understand whether the Soviet prosecution was denying the existence of the secret treaty and that if it was:

"Then I repeat my request that Molotov be produced to testify."

The alleged treaty, first, was mentioned at the trial in an affidavit by Dr. Friedrich Gau, former German ambassador to Moscow.

An attempt to introduce this affidavit by Hess' defense was blocked by Gen. Rudenko pending its translation from German into Russian, French and English.

Outside the courtroom, Seidl expressed bewilderment that such translations had not been completed. He said he submitted the seven-page document to the tribunal's staff three days ago.

Disagreed With Hitler.

Before her mention of the secret treaty brought today's proceedings to a standstill, the 36-year-old Miss Blanche, who was 20, Ribbentrop's secretary from 1934 to the end of the war, had described her employer as an almost abject figure who "suffered psychologically" when as a result of frequent disagreements Adolf Hitler "refused for weeks to see him."

Earlier, when Von Ribbentrop's counsel sought a five-minute recess before summoning the woman to the stand, the tribunal upheld an objection by Thomas J. Dodd, Deputy U. S. Prosecutor, to the effect that in the repeated delays "we are faced with almost a one-man filibuster."

Hussain Ala said Soviet officials proposed that:

(1) Sovi troops remain in some parts of Iran indefinitely.

Red Demands Listed

(2) The Iranian government should recognize internal autonomy for Azerbaijan, with the provincial premier becoming governor general, with the provincial ministers of foreign affairs and war abolished, with 30 per cent of the provincial revenue paid to the Iranian central government and all correspondence with the central government conducted in the Persian language.

(3) The Soviet government should abandon demands for an oil concession and an Iran-Russia joint stock company should be set up with 51 per cent of the shares held by the Soviet Union and 49 per cent by Iran.

Gromyko Walks Out

Hussain Ala said Premier Qazvin rejected these demands and the Soviet officials withdrew them. Further efforts, the Iranian said, had not clarified the situation.

Gromyko told the council:

"For reasons which I explained clearly enough in our meeting of yesterday and in today's meeting, Mr. Chairman, I, as representative of the Soviet Union, am not able to participate further in the discussions of the security council be-who presided at the hearing here, took an opposite view. He had invited the Washington representatives to the hearing. Thompson said his talks in Washington with navy officials had convinced him there was nothing phoney about its request for fuel and that he was convinced that the need was real and that it was imperative. The matter of price is only incidental, he added.

Chairman Olin Culberson telegraphed that he would be unable to attend the meeting as he had to fly to Washington for another hearing. In his telegram he said he did not think the commission should make any change in the Texas allowable until positive sworn testimony showed why the navy's suddenly claimed shortage was due to lack of crude.

Appearing before the commission were Capt. E. B. Biggs, J. Deutch, executive officer of the Office of War Mobilization and Reconstruction, Maury Wells, of the Office of the War Shipping Administration, Comdr. Ralph S. Fowler, chief of the fuel division of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, and Comdr. D. V. Wengrowius, both members of the joint army-navy purchasing agency.

Testimony of the federal representatives temporarily sidetracked testimony in the scheduled hearing on flare gas.

AUSTIN, March 28 (AP)—Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culberson today flung full responsibility for the navy's asserted fuel oil shortage at the navy, the OPA and the producers of residual fuel oils.

In a telegram to the other two members of the commission, Ernest Thompson and Beaumont Jester, meeting in Midland today to study gas flaring in West Texas fields, Culberson said the present situation could have been corrected had one of the three active oilmen interested himself immediately following V-J Day.

Full Hearing Due.
Before even considering a change in the commission's present oil order which controls Texas crude production, Culberson said he would "insist upon a full hearing after notice to all other interested parties."

The commission chairman said he considered it "ill grace for the navy, the PAW or the OPA to come crying to the railroad commission for an attempt to lay at the commission's door any responsibility whatever for the present situation which has been brought about solely because of economic and differences between departments of Washington."

Price Squeeze Blamed.
He said the present situation is "undoubtedly attributable" to a price squeeze.

Culberson said he did not think the commission would be justified in taking any action on the question at the Midland hearing on April 1 when Thompson, who has been informed navy representatives will seek to convince the commission of a real need for fuel oil.

cause my proposal has not been accepted by the council, and I therefore leave the meeting.

There was only a slight interruption while the Soviet delegation strode solemnly out.

Lobby Investigation May Include Actions Of Federal Bureaus

WASHINGTON, March 28 (AP)—The lobbying investigation congress is contemplating took a turn today in the direction of government bureaus and Democratic party officials.

House rules committee members, who tentatively approved the inquiry yesterday, told reporters privately that was their purpose in widening the course of the proposed search for facts.

Eventually, they said, the investigation may encompass such officials as Robert E. Hannegan, postmaster general, and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, as well as other administration leaders.

The inquiry, proposed originally by rules Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.), may have been made by a special five-man committee. But the rules group in advancing it subject to House action directed Sabath to amend his resolution before sending it to the floor.

The amendments would order the inquiry to be made by the rules committee and would broaden its scope to include not only "all groups, associations, committees, organizations, or combinations thereof" seeking to influence legislation, but also government agencies and officials.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR CITY SECURING LOCAL ARMY FIELD

Prospects seem good for Corsicana securing the entire Air Activities Field, physical plant and facilities. Mayor John C. Calhoun has wired Travis Fullwood, mayor pro tem.

Mayor Calhoun has been in Washington, D. C., since last week end contacting the various agencies necessary to closing the deal. He is expected back in Corsicana Saturday afternoon.

It has been suggested that Corsicana operate the storage depot until it is coaxed to use all facilities at the field. Mayor Calhoun agreed. The city would then own everything necessary for the successful operation of an air port and housing unit.

Beginning April 1, the city will operate on an interim contract at the Air Activities Field. This would probably go on for a period of 30 days, the Mayor's wire indicated.

Miss Ruth Brown will be present by Edward F. Hearn in graduation piano recital at Kinsloe House on Sunday afternoon March 31st, at 4 o'clock.

U. S. BELIEVED NOT LIKELY TO PUNISH SPAIN BY SANCTIONS

By GRAHAM HOVEY

WASHINGTON, March 28.—(AP)—The United States probably will reject French proposals for an economic blockade of Spain as a means of hastening the downfall of Generalissimo Franco, diplomatic officials predicted today.

Proposals for some sort of economic quarantine, particularly for a halt to American and British oil shipments, were included in a French note which arrived at the State Department yesterday. The note was sent to Britain and Russia.

UNO Not to Get Issue.

Diplomats said they understood France agreed in the note not to bring the Spanish situation before the United Nations Security Council immediately. This country and Britain have opposed council consideration of the Franco matter.

France implied, however, that it might take such action later if its new suggestions were rejected.

In addition to economic sanctions, France was said to have proposed:

Council Talks Asked.

1. Discussion on the Spanish situation by the allied council of foreign ministers (U. S., Britain, Russia, France, China.)

2. Consideration of "practical means" for restoring democratic government in Spain.

3. Reduction by the United States and Britain of their diplomatic and consular missions in Spain.

U. S. Protects People.

In the past, this country generally has refused to consider economic sanctions against Spain on the grounds that such action would hurt the Spanish people more than France.

Oil sanctions would affect a great many Spanish people because it would hamper truck shipments of food within the country, it was said.

Some diplomats suggested it was particularly easy for France to propose oil sanctions since the French send no oil to Spain.

State department officials noted that this country already has slashed its diplomatic representation.

DR. W. H. WALLACE, JR.
SPEAKER METHODIST
MEN'S DINNER CLUB

KEEP THINGS WORTH-
 WHILE—DISCARD OTHERS
 URGED CHURCH LEADER

By PAUL MOORE

DALLAS Sun Staff
 Approximate 200 men heard
 Dr. W. H. Wallace, Jr., pastor of St. Luke's Methodist church, Oklahoma City, Okla., deliver a challenging and stirring message to
 worth keeping and discard things not worthwhile. His address was before the Men's Dinner Club of the First Methodist Church. A musical program preceded the address and motion pictures of Methodist missionary efforts in Cuba and other interesting reels were presented following the program.
 A sing-song was led by Rev. Erwin
 F. Bohmfalk, pastor, with Mrs.
 Bohmfalk at the piano while John
 R. Corley was toastmaster.

The invocation was given by
 Rev. Finis Crutchfield, Methodist district superintendent, and R. H.
 Doke, president of the club, spoke briefly, inviting visitors to become members. The banquet-meeting was held in the educational building. The meal was served by the ladies of the church. A number of guests, including several recently discharged from the armed forces, were presented.

Musical Program

A male quartet composed of E.
 E. Burkhardt, W. B. Waddell, Norman G. Hardin and M. A. Spurgeon delighted the audience with a series of old and tuneful melodies with Mrs. E. L. Barnes as accompanist. The singers were attired in derby hats and affected huge mustaches.

Mrs. Claude L. White rendered three solos, with Mrs. A. W. Bufe as accompanist. Her numbers were
 "Men"—Carlyle, "Dreams of
 Love"—Leibestraum, and "An Old
 Excuse"—a composition by Mrs.
 White.

Directors of the club as introduced by President Doke included
 L. E. Riley, E. M. Rowland, Elbert Walker, W. A. Wilson, Tom

Eady, M. H. Statham, Chas. T.
 Banister, C. D. George, Guy
 Henry, Shelly Hicks, George Hudson,
 J. E. King, Alton N. Justis,
 James T. Foster, J. B. Fortson,
 Jr., Van Elkins, Chester Minyard,
 Johnny McKittrick, R. E. Elliott,
 Glen Atkins, I. J. Bigony, W. A.
 Clove, and Rev. Bohmfalk, the pastor.

Reared In Mexia
 Dr. Wallace, reared in Mexia and childhood friend of Toastmaster Corley, related that he and his young wife left Mexia in February, 1918, for Arkansas via Corsicana to begin his ministry in the Methodist church. The outstanding young people's leader of Methodism asked his audience frequently what were each keeping as they lived, moved around and progressed. A strong theme was that a person should "keep what he has his eye on and to watch his soul is attained. He emphasized that a person could keep his eyes on a rat-hole or on a cathedral, repeated that a person kept that which was valuable to him, and then urged the giving up of things, habits, and escapades that had been or should have been outgrown after asserting that there is not any institution in the world with as many "grown babies as the church." The speaker then asked his hearers whether they were giving their best to the church or just the left-overs.

Same Things Right

Turning to another portion of his address, Dr. Wallace spoke of persons he had known when starting out in life who were scrupulously honest and their lives were of the purest integrity. They would not cheat a person out of a $1 for anything, but later in life, when they were more prosperous, they would not hesitate to set up all kinds of efforts to outrace an associate or customer of $100. He then said that the same world and the same God were here and the same things were right now as earlier in life. He referred to many stating that it was necessary and desirable for church people to drink on some occasions. He countered with a quotation: "One drink is too many, 1,000 are not enough."

"Men need to get hold of something eternal," the minister asserted and continued:

"All I know is God!"

Live Clean Lives

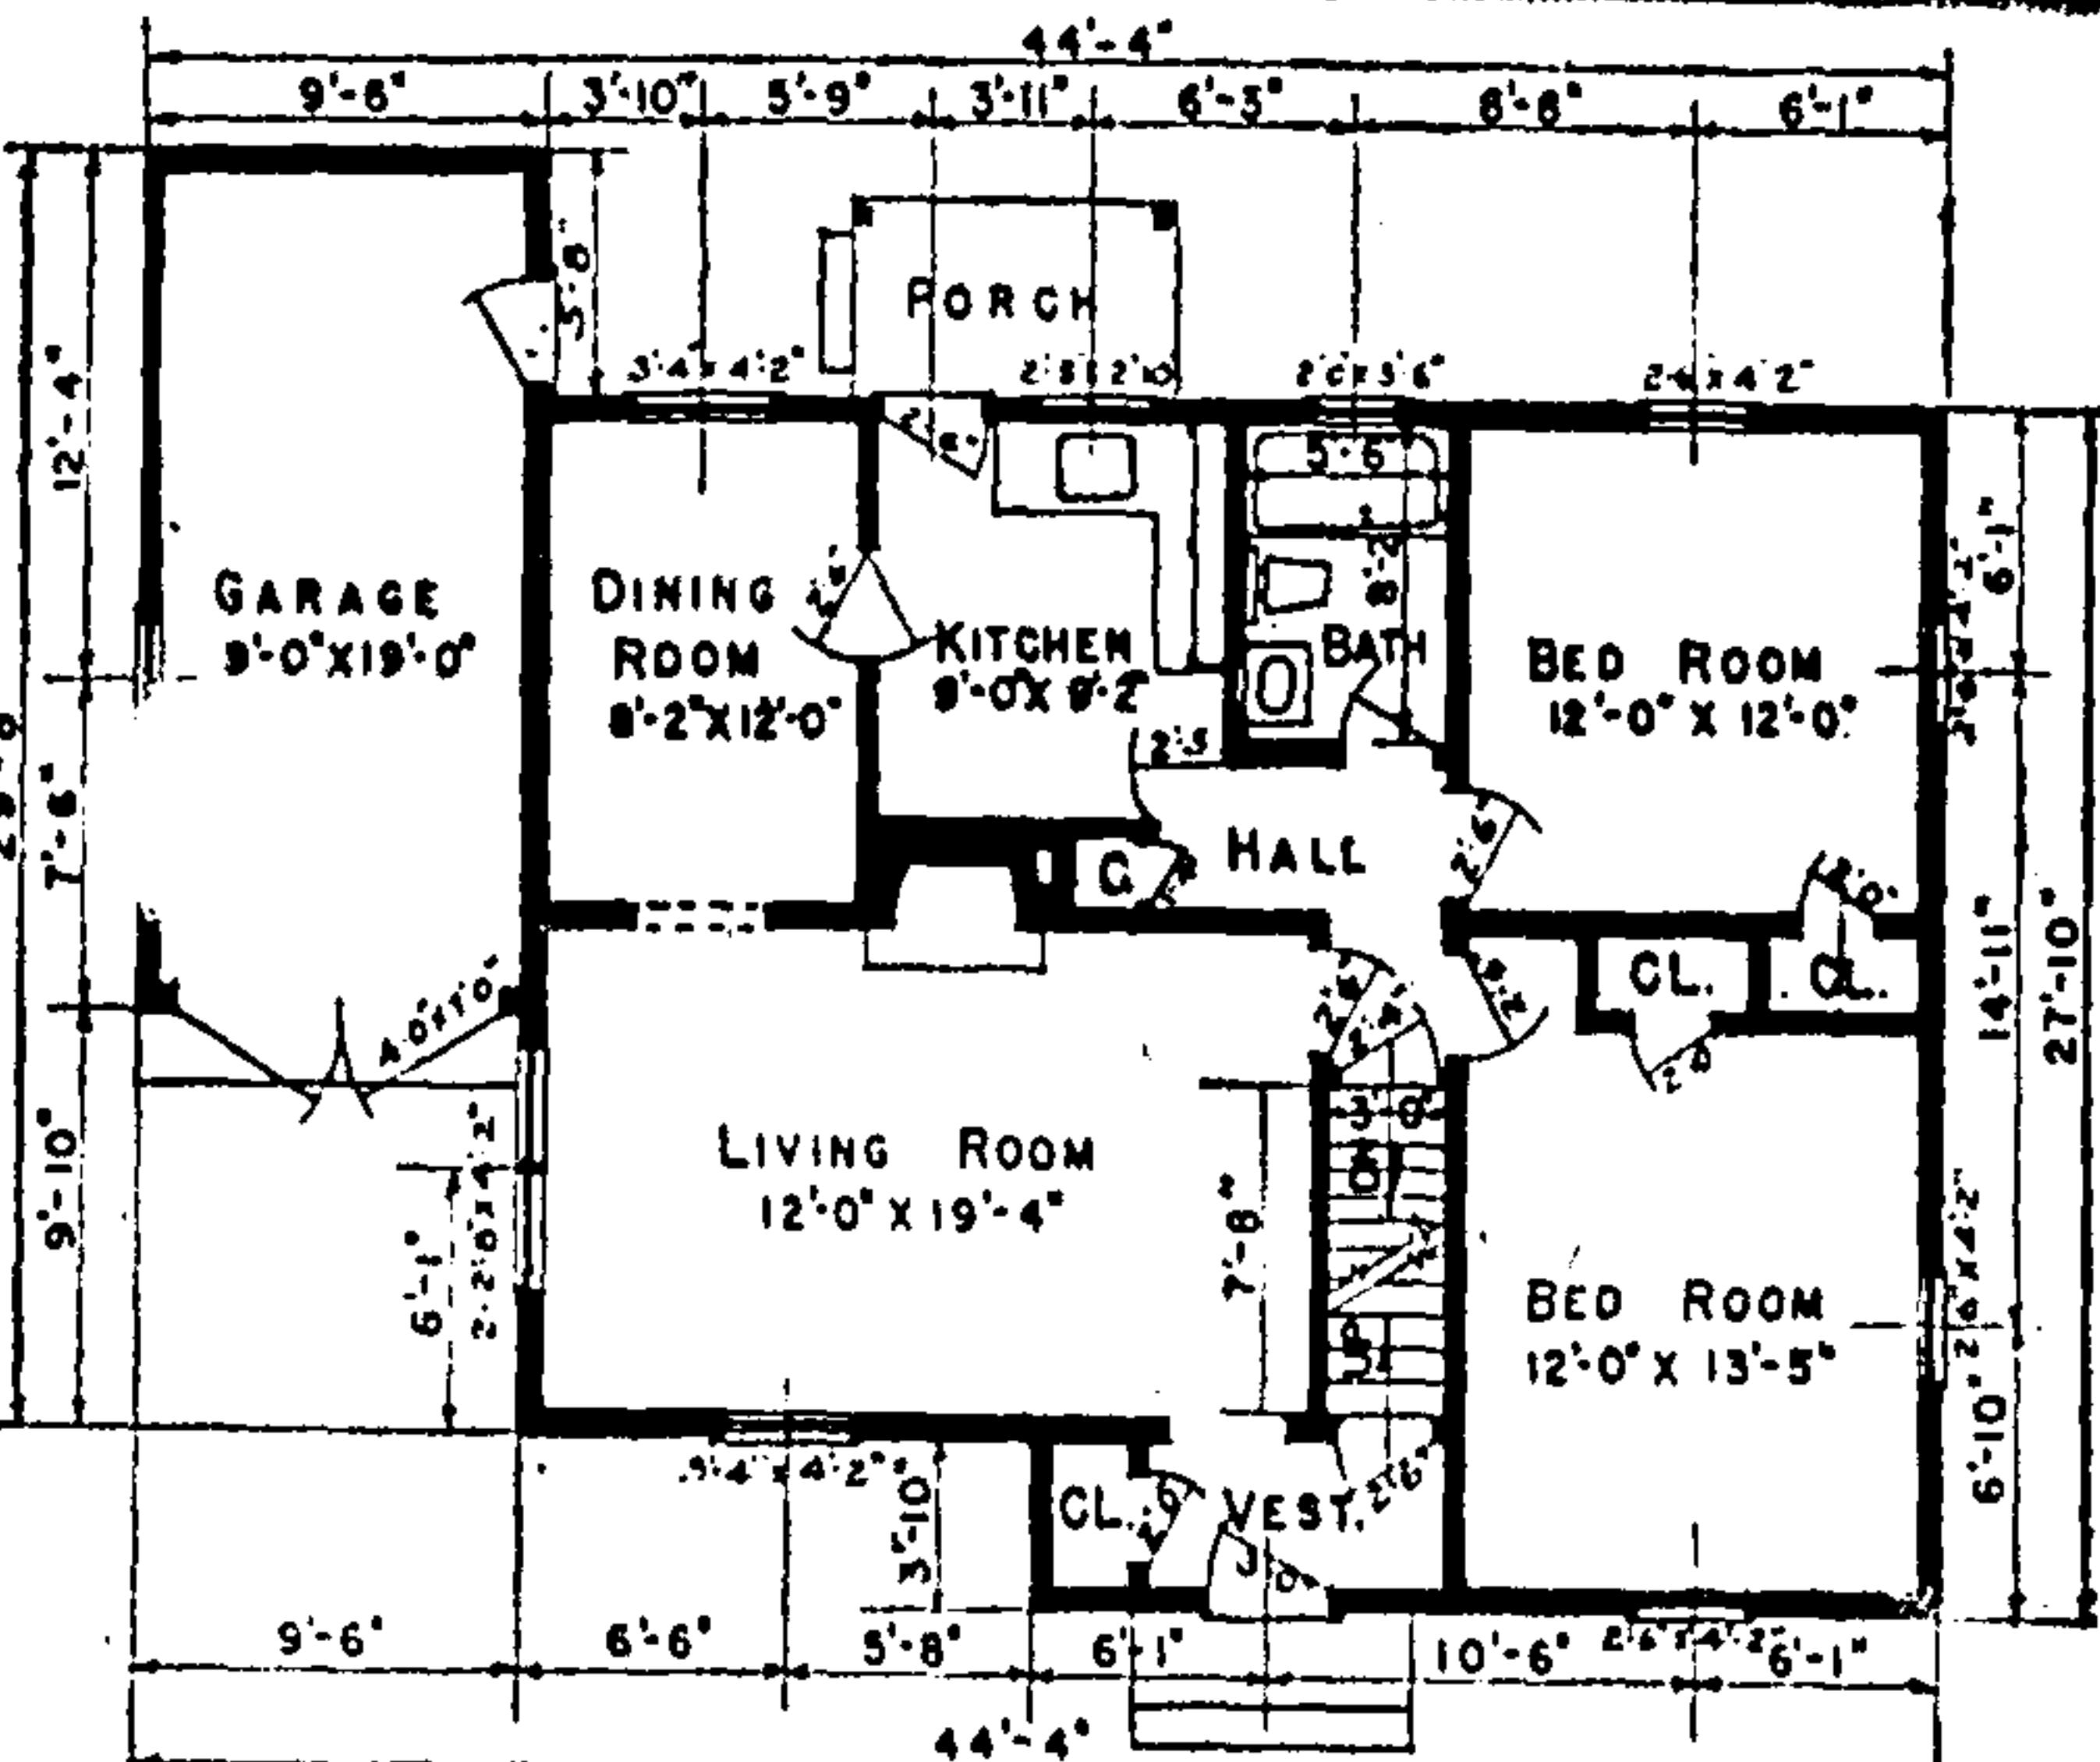

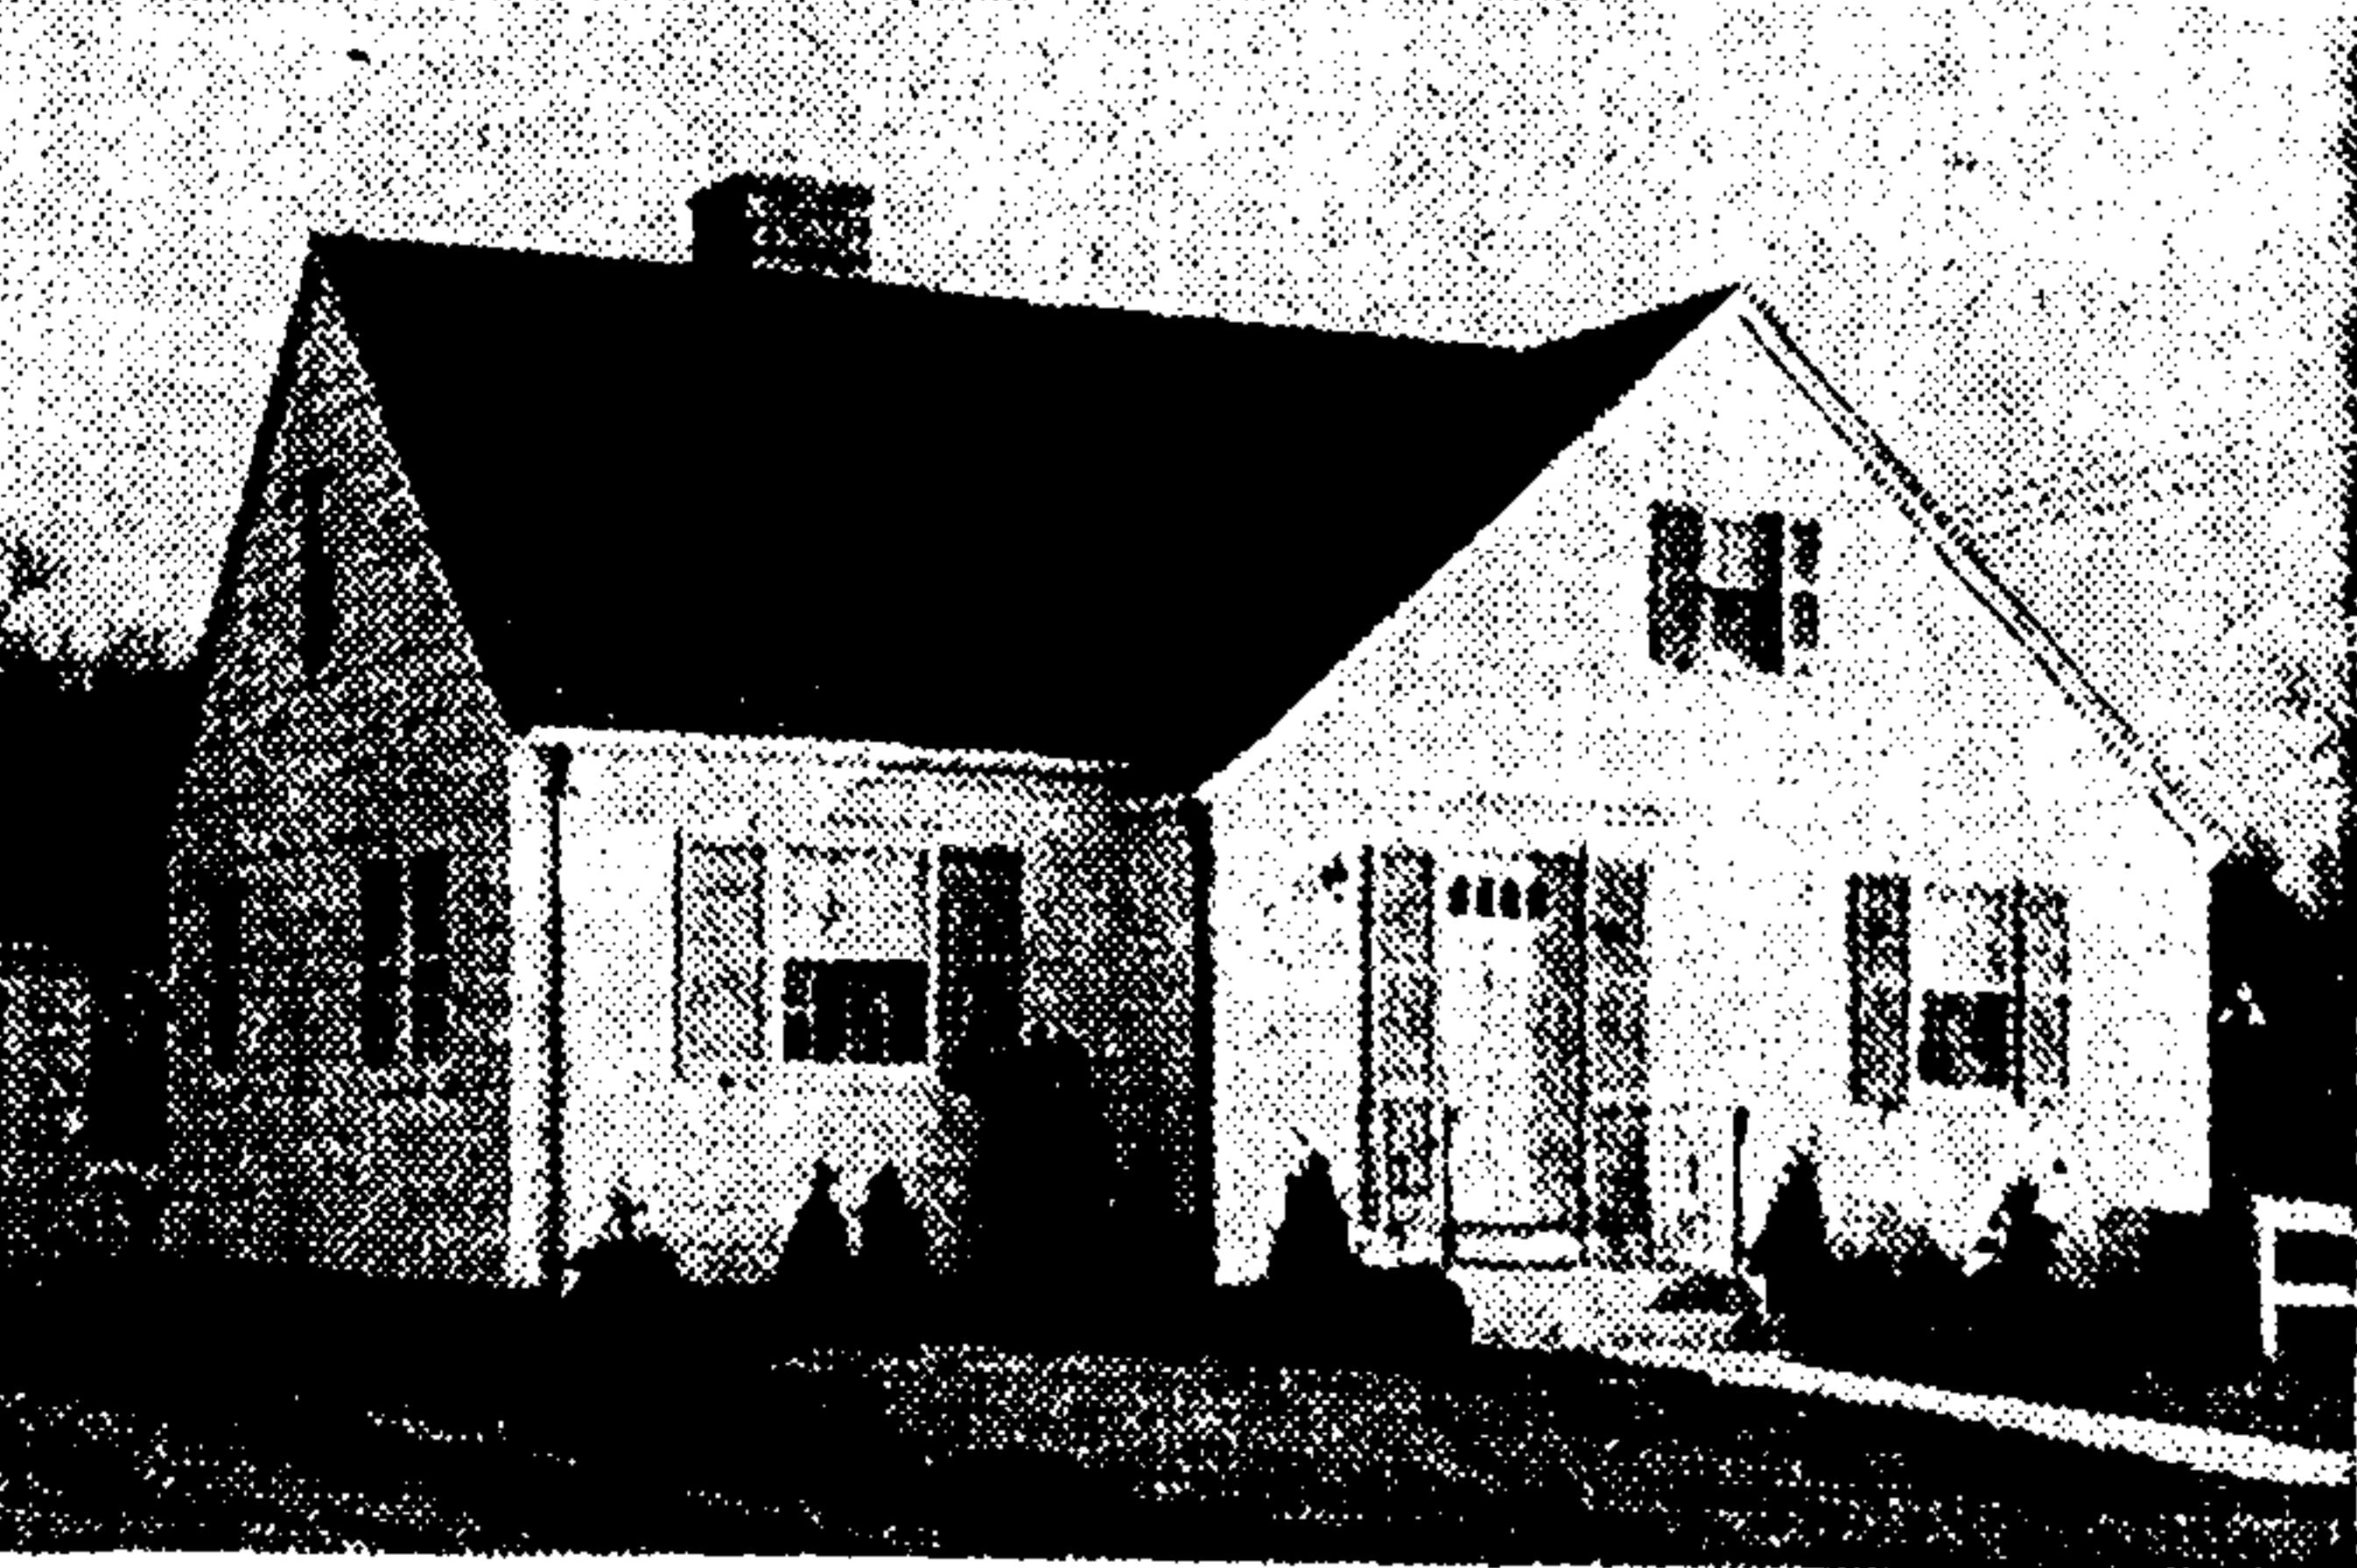

The speaker then appealed to the churchmen to clean their lives of their faults and shortcomings. He discounted ceremony and pointed out that observances of laws was not enough.

"Henceforth keep the Faith!" he admonished, and then added that he had seen so many young people throwing their valuable lives away. "Go home and figure out the things worth keeping," he concluded.

The speaker was presented by the pastor, who spoke of his outstanding success in the ministry of charges in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Mrs. Herbert Emery of Dallas, who will be in Corsicana on Friday evening to review Dorothy Walworth's fascinating book, "Nicomodus" at Corsicana High School at 8 o'clock, honored members of the Dallas City Council PTA with a review of the same book on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock.

Virgil Wynn Hopkins Re-enlists In Army

Virgil Wynn Hopkins, 26, of Palmer, route 2, has re-enlisted in the U. S. Army, according to an announcement from the Corsicana Recruiting Station.

From previous service, he wears the Good Conduct, American Theater and Victory Ribbons. He has enlisted for a year period.

Wilmer Eugene McFerrin, aged 31 years, of Killean, discharged veteran, was instantly killed about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning when the truck he was driving plunged through the railing on Ward Bridge, Highway 31, nine miles southwest of Corsicana.

McFerrin was operating truck and was towing a trailer containing another truck in a convoy and vehicles to the Red River Ordnance department, Texarkana. He was proceeding in a northwesterly direction toward Corsicana when his vehicle apparently got out of control, plunged through the railing, and was killed.

The refreshment table was arranged with spring flowers and an American and British flag.

The guest of honor wore an ensemble given to her as a welcome gift by the merchants of Corsicana. This included, not only a suit, shoes, hat, gloves, purse—but a corsage and pair of nylon hose as well!

The miscellaneous shower was for Mrs. Betts, British war bride of Sgt. Harold Betts of Angus, attended her first American "shower" Monday. And she loved it!

The mischievous shower was given by members of the Pickett Home Demonstration Club at the Pickett School.

A large crowd attended and Mrs. Betts received many lovely and useful gifts.
